

Artist: Bruce Homer

A local amateur artist; amateur in the best sense of the word!

Title: The Last Frontier?

Media: Acrylic

“As capitalist economies continue to suck all the air out of the universe it is nice to think there might be a place full of simple charm where life is still a gift and not just a target for exploitation. Maybe that is space. ... At least for another year or two.”

Do I sound old and bitter? I really must stop reading the newspaper!