Title: Leaving Space

Autumn is a time of bittersweet goodbyes and preparation, where the old can acknowledge their vibrant contribution but also leave space for the new. The mature must fall and move onto their next journey. Leaving space is a part of nature's intricate design, necessary for growth and rebirth. The fallen go on to other missions while the vessel prepares for the next generation. We, as the space makers, can enjoy the fall and go out in a splash of colour.
