

Artist: Kevin Miller

Title: Inside Stone Henge

Media: Acrylic

How do we show in art what space is? I thought about open space like the outdoors and indoor space, as well as objects that take up space. I also thought about outer space, it seemed that thinking about Stone Henge had everything.

The circular layout of the stones, the space between the stones is important. Its in a open space, it takes up space, and the space it occupies maybe be significant.

Some also think the sun shines through the space of the stones and points to the summer solstice. Some speculation is that Stone Henge is a gateway to other worlds? That would be infinite space!